It Doesn't Fly

By Stephen Lewis (Revised & Updated 2007)

There are several questions which I am always asked, that, in reality, constitute one huge question which must be addressed as such.

The first question is: if I can heal anything, and only I can heal myself, who needs you, or EMC<sup>2</sup> or the AIM Program or, for that matter, any external program?

Secondly, I am usually asked, "what can you say to convince me to get on the AIM Program?"

The last question is: can you comment on other forms of Energetic Balancing. The implied question here is, if we do need help, why should we choose the AIM Program over other energetic balancing programs, some of which are less expensive.

The questions may be combined as, "why do I need any help at all, and if I do need help why not choose the least expensive program?"

I believe the first question is the most interesting, because:

- A) it's the wrong question, and
- B) it is asked of the wrong person.

The correct answer to your question is, you do not need me or the AIM Program or anyone else to heal you, because, you and only you heal yourself, and that you are indeed capable of healing anything. However, that information is probably of little or no use to you.

The real question you must ask is, "will you heal yourself?" and you must ask it of yourself.

We here at EMC<sup>2</sup> have great confidence in your ability to heal yourself while you are on the AIM Program. That is because we have no doubt about your absolute discipline, dedication, determination and focus... because the AIM Program offers you no other option. If you are receiving

Energetic Balancing from the AIM Program you are spending 24 hours a day healing every imbalance you have. In fact, here in Las Vegas, receiving Energetic Balancing from the AIM program of EMC<sup>2</sup>, healing yourself is all you do. That is the miracle of the Spiritual Technology of healing yourself, holographically. On the other hand, what will you do, on your own, without Energetic Balancing? Will you give the effort required, rather than the effort you can spare? If healing requires 15 hours a day, will you say, "I'll give you two?" I hope not, because it will not work. Unfortunately, you cannot negotiate with God. So, you see, your question is, "will you heal yourself" not "can you heal yourself." Will you provide the discipline, the focus, the dedication on your own. If the answer is yes, then you do not need a healer or a computer or anything or anyone to remind you and assist you. Furthermore, the answer to that question, once again, resides in your consciousness. Look there for your answer.

I'm sure there is someone who would say, "I wish to build my house without an electric saw or drill or nail gun." My response would be, "that is your choice, and you can certainly build your house, anyway. You are simply giving up some tools. You will build your house with your effort and your intention. The tools are only there to facilitate. In fact, if you have a better tool, you'd be a fool to use something inferior." To carry this absurd thought a bit further, if you choose to maintain your house without a vacuum cleaner, that's fine. No one may, and no one should suggest that either you or your house are any the worse for your choice. I only suggest you examine what you are giving up, and what you gain by doing so. A tool is just a tool. It may be helpful, but it is neither spiritual nor metaphysical nor philosophical. If you hear a spiritually elevating message that has been broadcast over the airwaves, the broadcast does not diminish the message. There are no ascendant radios, televisions or podcasts. All that is relevant is the meaning within the message and your willingness to hear it.

I think it is also appropriate to add that I believe that the AIM program, or any other external means of energetic assistance are merely interim measures, and are destined to fall by the wayside when we fulfill our energetic destiny...which is quantum consciousness.

In regard to the second question, there is nothing I can say that will convince you of the need for and the validity of Energetic Balancing. It is not that there is nothing I can say, but literally nothing that can be said that will convince you. It's not my job to do so. I'm here only to inform you, as a messenger. The rest is up to you. You can not use your logic. Your scientific ability will not help you a bit. In fact, it is quite possible that your left brain will lead you astray. That is because only your instinct can convince you of the validity of the AIM Program, and the need for Energetic Balancing. It must resonate within you, and when it does you will feel it, or hear it or see it as an absolute and obvious truth.

"Healing is not proprietary to anyone or anything. It is exactly as old as life."

---

Whether the truth is reasonable or not is irrelevant. It need only be true. The words that describe a truth may be simple or they may be eloquent. That too is irrelevant, because either way, they are still words. Magic occurs when you feel an absolute truth. I believe you must insist on the magic.

The last question is critically important, and, to answer it I must try to remove my ego from the process. If you know me then you understand that is no easy task.

In my experience, there is no technology that does not progress and improve. In most cases the improvements are obvious, and easily measured. I do not believe the Spiritual Technology we use at EMC<sup>2</sup>, the AIM Program, is an exception to that rule. In other words, someday I'll encounter an Energetic Balancing program that is more effective than the AIM Program. If I don't encounter it in my lifetime, I still believe it will happen. It's an historic inevitability.

Now, to illustrate my point, let me talk about airplanes, about which I know nothing.

If we both manufacture airplanes, you may claim yours is superior because it is:

- A) faster
- B) more economical to operate
- C) less expensive to purchase

I believe it is fair to say that none of these factors are relevant in the case of a plane that doesn't fly.

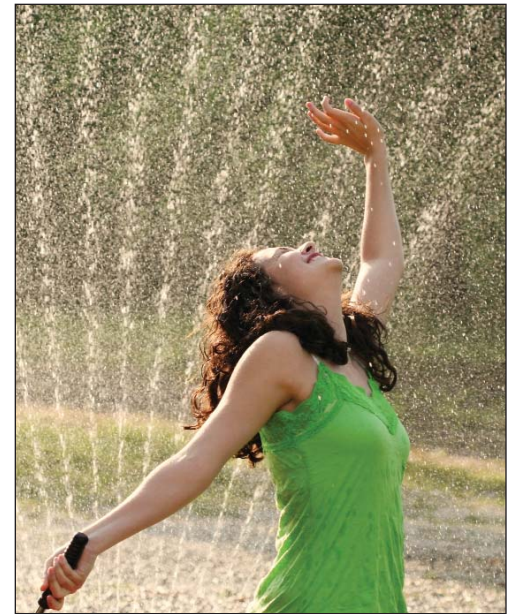

Obviously, it's easier to evaluate airplanes than Energetic Balancing programs, because no matter how vitaly important Energetic Balancing is to someone, it is possible that the results may not be readily perceived...unless you know exactly how to look for frequencies in consciousness.

Frequencies in consciousness are all we can examine because no computer contains or (I hope) even claims to contain either germs or medications. They can only generate frequencies that you can choose to accept or reject. Healing is a choice you make, and ultimately, it is your responsibility.

I have been able to measure healing in consciousness in people who are not on the AIM program. I have seen people heal themselves with the help of crystal vibrations. I have seen people heal themselves with the help of prayer and meditation. Healing is not proprietary to anyone or anything. It is exactly as old as life.

I said I must try to remove my ego from this issue. Here's why: If one invests in a used car that turns out to be a "lemon", one will, most likely not give up on the automobile, or, for that matter, give up on salesmen. Either way, it's neither my concern nor my business. But, if one invests in a technology that proports to help him heal himself, and it fails, he may very well give up on the possibility of any spiritual technology. That would be a tragedy.

That is why, when the AIM program does not appear to be addressing an imbalance, we take it so seriously.

Using Life Force to Create YOUR Life

By Evan Slawson

Several years ago, I was doing a question and answer session after speaking about Energetic Balancing in Sedona, Arizona. One woman's question began with a story about how she had participated in the AIM Program for a year. She said that the first seven months on the Program were the worst seven months in her entire life. She had experienced many discomforts she attributed to energetic detox as she cleared her active, hereditary and karmic imbalances. Her conclusion was that she couldn't wait for her AIM Program to end so she could stop feeling such discomfort. But after that seven month period, she said she experienced the best five months of her life. She had so much energy, she was able to accomplish her goals during long days and well into every night. She spoke about burning the candle at both ends and feeling incredibly great the whole time. But then, after a number of months of high energy, she couldn't stand it anymore and again couldn't wait for her AIM Program to be over so she could rest!

She stopped there and I urged her on, asking what her question was. She paused for a moment and said "I've been off the AIM Program for about six months and I don't have all that energy anymore."

"Then go back on the AIM Program," I said.

"I want to," she told me. "But what do I do with all the energy?"

Maybe you've experienced this on the AIM Program yourself. As your energetic imbalances disappear, your flow of life force energy increases. And maybe you're not sure what to do with that energy either.

To answer the "what do I do with all that energy" question, we have to look at what's going on with Energetic Balancing and how it relates to Life Force energy. Our society and the philosophy about the nature of the world it embodies does not generally acknowledge the concept of Life Force, yet other, far older and perhaps wiser, philosophies and societies have considered Life Force to be the most important factor in achieving abundant health, wealth and happiness.

"Everything in your life is a creative manifestation of Life Force. Who is directing that Life Force? Ultimately you are."

What is Life Force? Many people think of Life Force as the energy that propels their lungs to breathe and their heart to breathe. In acupuncture, life force is defined as the vital energy that circulates in the meridians, the energy pathways that make up the subtle-energy anatomy of the human body according to that discipline. The Chinese use the word Qi (pronounced "chee", sometimes also spelled chi). Yogis call it prana. They speak of prana flowing on the breath, but not being the breath itself. These beliefs generally postulate that Life Force is the stuff of which everything is made.

EMC<sup>2</sup> teaches, along with the great spiritual teachings and physicists like Albert Einstein Niels Bohr, David Bohm and others, that everything is energy. (Our focus is on the spiritual aspects of energy, but we believe that quantum physics is a description of spiritual laws from a mathematical perspective.) If everything is energy, then Life Force must be energy, right?

If everything is energy, what is the difference between Life Force and all the rest of the energy of which everything consists? Try this: Life Force is the energy you have available to you to create your life. As you expand your consciousness, you have more energy available for that process.

Notice that this definition of Life Force includes everything in your life, not just your body. Everything in your life is a creative manifestation of Life Force. Your family, your possessions, your job, your pastimes, your feelings, your thoughts are all a result of the directed flow of Life Force. Who is directing that Life Force? Ultimately, you are.

EMC<sup>2</sup> speaks of the Energetic Matrix. The Energetic Matrix is what we believe is the underlying architecture of consciousness that provides the form and guidance which causes Life Force to flow and manifest in specific ways. Energetic imbalances are blockages to the flow of Life Force and they are found in the Energetic Matrix. When the flow of Life Force is blocked, the things that Life Force is supposed to manifest are distorted, diminished or simply fail to appear. Though many of these imbalances occur in the portion of the Energetic Matrix that manifests your physical body, the Energetic Matrix and the corresponding flows of Life Force affect all areas of your life.

EMC<sup>2</sup> believes that energetic imbalances you have carried from before this lifetime and those which you acquired hereditarily from the Energetic Matrices of your parents have polarities which attract other energetic imbalances and patterns in your life. Your thoughts, emotions and spirituality are all affected by the presence of energetic imbalances. The affectations become habits that are ingrained in you. Over decades or lifetimes these habits become so familiar that it can be difficult to differentiate your true nature from that part of yourself manifested by your energetic imbalances.

As you participate in the AIM Program, your higher self uses the balancing energies provided to you via the holographic connection to your photograph to bring these energetic imbalances to consciousness and thereby release them. But even when the imbalances are cleared, you may be stuck with the energetic habits created by longtime influence of those imbalances.

I have talked before about American soldiers captured by the North Vietnamese Army during the Vietnam War who were sometimes tortured by being placed in small boxes in the prison yard. They were kept tightly confined in those boxes for weeks or months. When they were finally released, they could not immediately stand up and walk again even though they were no longer in the box. It is the same for many of us with our energetic imbalances. Though the imbalance may have been removed, we must retrain ourselves to move freely in our lives.

To get back to our friend in Sedona, what is she supposed to do with all that energy? Remember, Life Force energy is for creating your life. And that's what she should do with the energy.

If you're looking for ways to deal productively with the increase of Life Force energy as your energetic imbalances disappear, remember what Einstein once said: "The definition of insanity is doing the same thing over and over again, expecting different results." Use your new found energetic freedom to easily make the changes in your life that will give you different results.

Maximizing the EMC<sup>2</sup> Goal Cards

Roberta Hladek

Last year we developed the EMC<sup>2</sup> Goal Cards or as I nick named them "Gold Cards".

We start the cards off with the phrase, I am Grateful that...you fill in the rest. Through our work and the work of others, gratitude is one of the strongest vibrations in the universe. The movie "The Secret" has brought to the forefront how important it is to be grateful. Being grateful helps you align yourself with the universe to achieve all your goals and manifest the life you want and deserve.

I have seen the goal cards work many times over and make an unbelievable difference in many lives.

I myself made out a goal card several years ago. I wrote on a piece of paper "I am so happy that I own my own home and will live in it by December 2005." I put this paper away in my daytimer. A year later I was cleaning out my daytimer and found this piece of paper. I realize that I moved into my home that I had purchased on December 1, 2005.

"You have your goal card in your wallet, on your bathroom mirror or on your desk. They help remind us to be grateful for all we are and who we are."

The goal card along with AIM has put me in alignment with the universe and helps me realize my full potential. With the AIM program of Energetic Balancing, I have cleared energy blocks and raised my level of consciousness that otherwise would have kept me from realizing my full potential.

After seeing my dreams realized, I came up with the Goal Card idea.

Now many, many other AIM participants have joined me in the success of the goal cards.

From obtaining dream jobs, making more money, to driving the dream car they thought they might never would have. This is why I call them "Gold cards".

The Goal cards to me are just another way to visually stay on track. You have your goal card in your wallet, on your bathroom mirror, or on your desk. They help remind us to be grateful for all we are and who we are.

A question we are often asked is what makes the EMC<sup>2</sup> goal cards unique. For starters, we took a photo of all 10,000 cards collectively and placed them on the AIM program. In addition, when you are on the AIM program, you already have the spiritual technology of AIM working to remove blockages in your life. Balancing frequencies are assisting you 24 hours a day and 365 days a year. That means the goals that you have set for years and not achieved may now suddenly manifest quickly or more easily. Here are just a few examples we have heard so far.

Thank you for the goal cards and the AIM program. It seems as if my resolve is on vitamins. I have been trying to quit smoking for years and it seems I'm getting closer to my goal. While I have not quit smoking completely, I've drastically reduced my nicotine intake. I hope to quit completely by the end of the year.

Testimonials

Paige from Oregon

On AIM since December 1999

Our daughter, Paige was one of the first children to go on the AIM program and has been on AIM since 1999 when she was just three years old. She has an extraordinary vocabulary and spoke at an early age. She was in the top 10% of children in the SAT scoring for the country. Now, 10 years old, several of her written essays have been published in the school paper and two of her paintings were displayed in the school halls. She is a terrific swimmer and is being coached for competition. Paige has been in the EMC<sup>2</sup> office for a tray tour and loves the AIM program. She has told us on more than one occasion that she never wants to be without AIM!

Joy From Colorado

On AIM Since January 2003

“I didn’t expect much when I signed up for the Sacrament of Energetic Balancing through the AIM Program. One of my patients asked me to check it out with her. I was open to it since I had worked with radionics at an alternative cancer clinic.

I had my own health issues, large uterine fibroids that originally created a lot of bleeding during my periods. The 8 months prior to joining AIM the bleeding had been constant and extremely heavy. This affected my practice as an Acupuncturist (I am licensed and board certified). I had endured long courses of herbal, acupuncture and other treatments, nothing helped. The only thing western medicine offered was surgery, which I didn’t want to do.

I was surprised by the self-healing I achieved when by the second day on AIM the bleeding completely stopped and has not returned at all. My fibroids are shrinking and my other health issues have improved. Every year for 2-10, weeks I would experience severe respiratory ailments. This last winter I had none. There are other ailments I no longer experience since beginning my self-healing through the AIM Program.

I had closed down emotionally since my mother’s death in 1994. I have not wanted to be in any relationships. After 6 weeks on the AIM Program, I fell in love. My spirits were raised. My health has remained very good. My artistry as an Acupuncturist has improved. My energetic experience on AIM has been very subtle. But my personal healings have not been at all subtle.

I have been telling my friends and patients about AIM. With those that have joined AIM I’ve noticed my Acupuncture treatments and herbal medicine are more effective plus more fun to receive and give!”

Vicki from California

On AIM since May 2003

“I was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis in 1984 and thus began my journey to recover my health. Through this search I became educated about my illness by coming into contact with many different practitioners and their techniques. Most, unfortunately, led to dead ends and my disillusionment about doctors. However this only heightened my resolve to find answers that would work in my life. Multiple sclerosis is an incurable disease of the autoimmune system and the destruction of the myelin sheath.

It took a long time for me to understand how healing occurs and to accept the reality of having an illness such as multiple sclerosis. I tell you this because I want to be very clear how EMC<sup>2</sup> and the AIM spiritual technology have helped me quietly, consistently and profoundly.

When I began two years ago with the Sacrament of Energetic Balancing through the AIM Program, I had learned how important maintaining a level of high energy is with MS. Fatigue is one of the most difficult symptoms to handle and one of the most common to occur and infiltrate your life while suffering from multiple sclerosis. After being on the AIM Program, my fatigue symptoms vanished and my state of well-being increased tenfold.

I am so grateful to be a participant in EMC<sup>2</sup>’s healing technology.”

Thank you so much for the goal cards. I watched the Secret and started saying “Money comes frequently and easily.” Well two unexpected checks have shown up, one was for oil rights on some land I own and another was a bonus. Thanks!

I have been meaning to write a book for years. I’m happy to say that the first year I enrolled in the AIM program, I have written, published and am now marketing my book. Thanks AIM!

These are just a few examples of how the goal cards are working in people’s lives. Many have purchased the Goal Card Calendar (available at the EMC<sup>2</sup> store on energeticmatrix.com) so if you haven’t ordered it yet, it’s not too late. The calendar is a great tool to re-focus every month and manifest well being all year long.

 If Everything is Energy Then Anything is Possible!

When I look at people allegedly receiving energetic balancing from programs other than the AIM program, I do not see any evidence of imbalances in consciousness being addressed. I do not see any sign of healing. I don't see any sign of healing of obscure imbalances that have been revealed to EMC<sup>2</sup>, or of imbalances that have been known since biblical times. The only thing I can see is a plane that doesn't fly.

Ironically and historically, if you don't read this on our web site, now, you need only wait a few days and you can read it on many other energetic web sites.

So, the question is, "where does this leave you?", and the answer is, "at square one". You are left with your intuition. What resonates for you and what does not? Sure, there are clues that can help guide you, such as, how do the people advocating these programs look and sound? Or, who is trying to sell you and who is trying to inform you? Ultimately, the answers for you are within you. They are not within me or within them.

I wish you love and light and Godspeed in finding your healing.
